Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Kimball attended the state teachers convention at Grand Rapids today. After the convention they will go to Grand Ledge and spend the week end with friends.

A wet meeting was held at one of Alma's halls on Tuesday night of this week. We hear, along with the this news came the word that only two people were present besides the speaker, who did not even call the meeting to order. Some interest here in the wet movement, evidently.

The Alma high school students held a big celebration on Wednesday evening over their victory over the undefeated St. Louis team. A monster bonfire, was the chief attraction of the evening, and boxes from every store in Alma went into the making of the big pile that the students burned in honor of their scrappy team and hard working coach. It was some night, according to the school kids.

On Wednesday night of this week a wet speaker picked up a bunch on the corner of State and Superior streets and gave forth a flow of oratory in regard to the dry movement and those supporting it. If we are to believe him, those supporting the movement are preachers, who have gone wrong, etc. If this is the case, the Record is sorry that the preachers didn't go wrong years ago, and thus made Michigan dry before this year.

Our fellow townsman, William A. Bahke, who has been spending most of the past three months upon his new farm near Merrill, advises us that he is again at his office practicing law. It will be interesting to our patrons to know that during his vacation, that there were laid upon his farm, about 120,000 feet of glazed tile. These tile were put in at an average depth of three feet, and the drains four rods apart. The latter are all four inch tile leading to mains from one foot to six inches in diameter. One hundred and eighty acres were laid in this way. This land will all be fall plowed, and ready for spring crops. Mr. Bahke says he hopes to put in eighty acres of beets and eighty acres of beans in 1917 season. Construction of barns and dwelling houses are under way for the farm.

CLUB INCREASING

High School Debating Club Takes in Many New Members.

Last week Wednesday evening at a special meeting the Alma high school debating club took in fourteen new members, these being Schultz, Notes, Olmstead, Moore, Seaman, Sin, lift, Wilk, Clark, Desmond, Cummings, Walker, Hopkins, Johnstone and Wyatt.

On Thursday morning, the new members were required to do various stunts in the high school, these consisting of willing various apparel to the young ladies attending school, etc. On Thursday evening at the first regular meeting of the club the new members were called upon for speeches and let forth a flow of oratory that would have turned Webster or Clay green with envy.

The club appointed a committee to arrange for a triangular debate this year between Big Rapids, Ionia and Alma high schools, the committee to arrange the subject with the other schools, and the time for the debate. The high school lads are taking seriously to the work in debate, according to reports and have good material from which to select a couple debating teams.

The old members of the club are Smith, Campbell, Boyd, Cash, Medler, Holland, Johnson, Sharrar, Pettyjohn and Beshgetoor.

PIONEER DEAD

Ambrose B. Angell, a pioneer resident of Gratiot county and Alma, died last Saturday evening at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Isaac Russell.

Ambrose Angell was born in Orleans county, New York, April 15, 1834, and at the age of seven years moved with his parents to Wayne county, Michigan. Later he lived in Ingham and Jackson counties. He received a common school education and attended Albion college for a year and a half.

He moved to Gratiot county in 1877, settling in Arcadia township. In 1884 he gave up farming and moved into Alma and for ten years conducted the Angell house here. With the death of his wife he left the hotel business and since that time has resided almost continuously with his daughter.

He was a staunch Republican and at various times held the offices of county drain commissioner, highway commissioner and after coming to Alma to live, was an assessor here for a time.

He is survived by two children, Mrs. Isaac Russell of Alma and Willard C. Angell of Montana.

The funeral was held from the home of his daughter on Tuesday, Rev. Mason officiating and interment was made in Riverside cemetery. The I. O. O. F. lodge of which he was a member, escorted the body to its last resting place.

H. M. CROOKS IS COLLEGE PRESIDENT

rules for Alma college, which might not hold because of changing conditions. He said that Alma college was a Christian college, and that the best could be brought out through a sympathetic understanding of the instructor and student, and that Alma college welcomed both sexes and all creeds. He hoped for a long term that might be filled with achievements.

In his charge to the president, John H. McCracken, president of Lafayette college charged president Crooks to do three things, to lead Alma, to lead Alma somewhere, and to lead in society, which would bring about the best for Alma college, through training its students rightly, and to go in the right direction.

In his charge to the trustees, Rev. William Hiram Foulkes of Philadelphia, brought out three things also, the trust of wealth to which the trustees were in charge, the trust of truth, and the trust to youth, those attending college, whose keeping was in charge of the board of trustees while in college.

Degrees were conferred at the close of the exercises. A degree of LL.D. was conferred upon Dr. Thomas C. Blaisdell, now Dean of the Department of Liberal Arts at Penn State, and former president of Alma college. President W. O. Carrier of Carroll college, Wisconsin, was also granted an LL.D. degree, which was conferred. Rev. Louis Brooks of Howell, a graduate of Alma college with the class of '96, was granted the degree of D.D. which was conferred. The degree of D. D. was also conferred upon Dr. E. A. McAlpin, president of The College Board Presbyterian Church, and the same degree was conferred upon Rev. Angus Cameron of Detroit. The degree to Cameron was granted some time ago, but not conferred until this week.

The inaugural luncheon held immediately after the close of the Wednesday forenoon exercises held the large gathering most of the afternoon. Miss Albertson more than surprised the guests with the magnificence of the luncheon, which she had prepared for them. Everything that could be done, was done by her in a most painstaking manner.

Harry M. Gage, president of Huron college, S. D.; President Nollen of Lake Forest college, Illinois; President Stevenson of Princeton seminary; President McClure of McCormick seminary, President Reed of Auburn seminary, President White of the College of Wooster, and Dean Thomas C. Blaisdell of Penn State, and former president of Alma, were speakers at the luncheon.

A telegram from Ex-President August F. Brunske of Alma college was read at the luncheon, one of congratulation to the college. Following the reading of this message a telegram of felicitation was sent to the former Alma president to his California home.

Price---

FRIENDS returning from the larger cities are surprised at the reasonable prices I ask for such high quality, exclusive Dresses, Suits and Hats. They are astonished that I do not sell such beautiful creations at double the prices I put upon them. There are two reasons why I do not "double" on my prices: First, no high rent to pay; second, small profits mean a quicker turn-over, and a larger volume of business—new things to choose from at all times.

Remember, too, you will not find someone else wearing the same thing if you buy your Suits, Hats and Dresses from me.
